

Dear Recipient,

This message has been sent to central European Lagotto romagnolo breeders, breeders' clubs and breeding organizations.

We want to inform you that we have discovered a gene mutation that causes juvenile epilepsy of Lagotto romagnolo dogs. A DNA-test is also available, which can distinct dogs that are healthy and free of the mutation, healthy carriers of the risk gene, or dogs who are homozygous for the mutation and become affected.

It is recommended to test Lagottos before breeding decisions are made. We recommend to test also new-born litters.

You can find more information about the test in the attached document as well as from our website www.canigen.com .

Best regards,
